PRODUCT OVERVIEW

Everyone's looking to save money these days. Have you ever wondered why you're paying expensive, dollar-based pricing to an international email provider, when the same service is available locally?

Vox POPMail offers all the features you need from email, at a fraction of the price. We're based in South Africa and so is all your information. This means we don't push adverts to your inbox, and we don't collect your personal data to share with advertisers.

Vox PopMail offers all the key functionality you need from email and more, including:

- A choice between using your own domain name or our shared domain

- Anti-spam and anti-virus to enhance your email security and keep unwanted marketers away
- Mail, including calendar and tasks, with access via web browser and/or Outlook
- The option to create and manage mailing lists
- The ability to create up to three different alias email addresses
- An easy-to-use admin interface to create and manage your email

We also offer a selection of three flexible mailbox sizes to choose from, built to accommodate your budget and business needs.
